PRESS RELEASE

Exhibition set to show submissions for ambitious Iron Line design team selection

SUBMISSIONS from national and international landscape and architectural designers hoping to be selected to work on Millom's ambitious Iron Line project are to form part of a public showcase this weekend.

Working alongside Copeland Borough Council, the Millom Town Deal Board secured an offer of £20.6 million from the Government's £3.6 billion Towns Fund initiative in July for projects it identified as local priorities.

Last month, a global search was launched to find a design team to draw together outline ideas for one of these projects - The Iron Line - which will see the uniquely beautiful sea wall and coastal lagoon sensitively transformed into an inspirational and fully inclusive, nationally significant route across RSPB Hodbarrow.

Now, submissions received by the closing date are set to be showcased at Millom Heritage and Arts Centre from this Saturday, October 23 until Sunday, October 24, so that members of the public can view them and share their thoughts. The submissions will also be available to view on the Millom Town Deal Facebook page.

In addition to the public showcase, a competition for both primary and secondary school children in the area has been launched - with young people invited to design a logo for the Iron Line that captures the spirit of the project through references to its special ecology, heritage and distinctiveness.

Robert Morris-Eyton, chair of the Millom Town Deal Board, said: “We have always committed to making sure residents and businesses can feed into the development of our four projects as far as possible as part of the Town Deal process.

“The exhibition is an exciting opportunity for people to come along and see the submissions that have come forward in our search for a design partner for the Iron Line project.

“People’s thoughts will help to inform the selection process as we move towards the stage of developing ideas for the project itself.

“The Towns Deal funding is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to create changes that will have a positive impact upon this area for years to come. That’s why it’s so important that children and young people are involved so I’m looking forward to seeing their logo designs coming through as part of the competition for schools.”

Millom and Haverigg were among 101 towns invited to bid for a share of the Towns Fund in 2019 - part of the Government’s Levelling Up agenda.

In addition to The Iron Line, three further projects are included in the successful Town Investment Plan. Each aims to help maximise inclusive economic growth and better connectivity for the area while developing a welcoming arts, culture and tourism offer, thriving independent businesses and healthy, active people.

The projects are:

- Reactivating heritage buildings - A proposal to significantly enhance Millom Town Centre by bringing derelict, vacant and underused heritage buildings back into active use to increase vitality and footfall.
- Activating community health - The creation of a new, multi-purpose community and leisure hub to provide a range of facilities including a swimming pool and 3G pitch, as well as improvements at Millom and Haverigg parks.

- Connected Millom and Haverigg - Improving Millom's transport network to create a gateway to the town at the railway station, while transforming cycling and walking infrastructure in both Millom and Haverigg.

Colander Associates Ltd was brought in to seek the interest of design and architectural firms both in the UK and internationally on behalf of Millom Town Deal Board and Copeland Borough Council.

Members of the technical panel responsible for overseeing the selection of shortlisted submissions will also judge the childrens' logo competition after its closing date of December 1.

Dave Blackledge, RSPB site manager, said: "Helping find the right design team will be a crucial stage in this project.

"Improving access and engagement with the site while enhancing the wildlife value of this environmentally sensitive reserve will need a special set of skills and it will be exciting to see these first submissions"

HM Government

A GLOBAL search for landscape and architectural designers with big ideas has been launched - as multi-million plans to transform a unique beauty spot in a North West town gather pace.

Working with Copeland Borough Council, the Millom Town Deal Board secured an offer of £20.6 million from the Government's £3.6 billion Towns Fund initiative earlier this year for projects it identified as local priorities.

The money has been allocated to four projects that required support of Government that will help ensure the area thrives now and for future generations.

Today, a competition has been launched to find a design partner for one of these projects - The Iron Line - which aims to sensitively transform the coastal lagoon and sea wall into an inspirational and fully inclusive, nationally significant visitor attraction.

The five proposals in the competition that best meet the criteria after the closing date of October 20 will be shortlisted to go through to the second round. These design concepts will be showcased in a local exhibition so that stakeholders and members of the public can feed into the process.

Robert Morris-Eyton, chair of the Millom Town Deal Board, described the competition as a pivotal moment in the life of the project.

“The Iron Line is an ambitious scheme that sets out the potential for this route to become one of the most unique and beautiful visitor attractions in the region,” he said.

“What we want is for the competition to bring forward teams with a vision for The Iron Line and how it could become an area that marries together the important and delicate ecology and heritage of the area with art and inclusivity.

“What’s especially exciting is that the design will be a collaborative process with residents and stakeholders across the area who will be able to help shape the ideas that come forward. This is something we’re very much looking forward to.”

The Iron Line would feature the historic sea wall and include the area covered by RSPB Hodbarrow.

Dave Blackledge, RSPB Hodbarrow Site Manager, said: “The route will cross RSPB Hodbarrow and we look forward to working with the successful design team on this exciting project.

“The challenge will be to create an engaging trail that informs and educates while enhancing the wildlife and flora of this environmentally sensitive site.”

Millom and Haverigg were among 101 towns invited to bid for a share of the Towns Fund in 2019 - part of the Government’s Levelling Up agenda.

It’s proposal includes four projects set out in Millom and Haverigg’s Town Investment Plan. They aim to help maximise inclusive economic growth and better connectivity for the area while developing a welcoming arts, culture and tourism offer, thriving independent businesses and healthy, active people.

The Millom Town Deal board this week confirmed all four projects are set to move forward to the business case stage - a crucial step in the journey towards unlocking the promised cash from Government.

In addition to The Iron Line, the projects include:

- Reactivating heritage buildings - A proposal to significantly enhance Millom Town Centre by bringing derelict, vacant and underused heritage buildings back into active use to increase vitality and footfall.
- Activating community health - The creation of a new, multi-purpose community and leisure hub to provide a range of facilities including a swimming pool and 3G pitch, as well as improvements at Millom and Haverigg parks.
- Connected Millom and Haverigg - Improving Millom's transport network to create a gateway to the town at the railway station, while transforming cycling and walking infrastructure in both Millom and Haverigg.

Colander Associates Ltd has been brought in to run The Iron Line design competition on behalf of the Borough Council and Town Deal Board in order to seek the interest of firms both in the UK and internationally.

The Mayor of Copeland, Mike Starkie, said: "The package of projects that make up Millom's Town Deal will work together to secure a wide range of benefits for residents and businesses, not least through improved health and wellbeing outcomes for our communities and a prosperous, resilient economy.

"The launch of this competition is a big step forward for The IronLine, and I look forward to other projects gaining shape."
