Good Morning Chris,

In response to the attached EA response,

Story Homes would also like to highlight that point 1.1.6 in the remediation strategy states that 'the Method Statement should be submitted to, and approved by, the client', therefore there would be no requirement for the regulatory body to sign this method statement off.

We would also like to point out that this remediation strategy has been previously approved by the EA under the engineering application submitted last year reference number 4/22/2470/DOC.

Kind Regards

Jennie
